The SLL Code for Lighting is the definitive reference source for information about the UK requirements for lighting design.

The 2009 Code is only available as a CD but it is now complimented by the recently published SLL Lighting Handbook.

The Code was first published in 1936, and up till 1994 it was published in printed form. In 2002 the Code was published as a CD with certain key sections also printed. Since then, the 2004 and 2006 editions of the Code have been produced purely in CD format.

In addition to the Code the CD feature a number of lighting guides and other information including LIF technical statements and SLL fact files.

The 2009 Edition of the Code contains extra information about road lighting and the section on maintenance factors has been completely updated. In addition Lighting Guide 9 Lighting for Communal Residential Buildings has been added to the CD.

SLL Code for Lighting cost £85.00 to CIBSE/SLL Members, £143.00 to non-members. P&P £8.50
