

CIBSE Membership Fact Sheet

Student Member via CIBSE/ASHRAE Agreement – AF21

If you are in the process of completing the education or training stages for another grade of CIBSE membership, becoming a Student member is a useful interim stage. It will enable you to become involved in the life of the Institution, and to take advantage of the valuable services it offers to develop your career.

Requirements

To become a Student member of the Institution you need:

- To be registered on a course of study in Building Services Engineering
- To be working towards Licentiate, Associate or Member status
- To ensure your application is endorsed by an academic tutor

• How to apply

- Complete the appropriate application form
- Submit it with the subscription payment as detailed in the current Student member application form

In addition to CIBSE's services and benefits, Student members also receive a free Student Data book, providing essential information, taken from CIBSE Guides, to help you with your studies.

CIBSE members seeking ASHRAE membership should go to: www.ASHRAE.org