

CIBSE ANZ October Newsletter

Dear Member,

We hope you've had a great month so far and are ready for another round of exciting news and upcoming CIBSE events.

All the best,

The CIBSE ANZ Team

More Than a Job, It's a Calling - Call for CIBSE ANZ committee nominations

The Chartered Institution of Building Services Engineers is the foremost authority on best practice for building services engineering around the world. Committee members are the heart of the organisation, driving the vision, ideas and initiatives to meet future challenges and organising a broad range of technical events to promote the intellectual welfare of the members in the Australia and New Zealand region.

Vacancies exist for CIBSE ANZ Honorary Secretary, and CIBSE Wellington Chapter Chair, as well as for valued committee members in CIBSE ANZ's eight active chapters around Australia and New Zealand – Auckland, Christchurch, Wellington and NSW, QLD, SA, VIC, WA.

Nominate before 15 November 2018

Earthquake Restraint & Design Requirements – What's changed, what's stayed the same

When it comes to earthquake compliance you don't want to be left standing on shaky ground. Especially in Adelaide where the risk of earthquake is higher than any other capital city in Australia.

Recently the South Australian Department of Planning, Transport and Infrastructure (DPTI) updated the expectations and policy guidelines issued in 2014. John Callea, Manager - Professional & Advisory Services presented to a full house at the CIBSE SA technical seminar last month.

Turning the Tables - Journalist in the hot seat

Release date: 30 September 2018

The tables are turned in our latest podcast, where the journalist is well and truly in the hot seat and she is on fire!

Our special guest is the Founder, Publisher and Managing Editor of The Fifth Estate, yes, you guessed it, we're joined by Tina Perinotto who continues to play a precious role in finding, interrogating and disseminating information about the built and living environment.

Tune in to hear more from Tina, as she shares some insights into investigative journalism, her views on ethics in the workplace and also what Tina considers to be the top three issues you will be covering in the next 12 months.
